Liquor Has Equal in Murder in Scholl Canyon

THE headline over the story of the murder in Glendale of George Hermann by a fellow workman this morning tells a story of several chapters. The exact wording is "Murder Follows Liquor." If it is not murder in a physical sense, it is something nearly as bad, for evil of some kind is always dogging the footsteps of those who use liquor.

The United States is fortunate indeed in having a president who has backbone enough to uphold the constitution of the United States against the States' Right claims. President Harding minced no words when he told the state of New York the action he would take if the liquor enforcement law of that state was repealed.

HOW any individual can argue in behalf of a traffic of misery is beyond us. In business a non-producer is done away with. So it should be in our social life. Liquor is a non-producer in every sense of the word—the only thing it produces being misery, unhappiness and as in this case death.

THE banquet to be given this evening at Citizens Building to celebrate the near approach of the erection of the first six-story building in Glendale is another step up the ladder for Glendale. It has only been a short time since a dinner was given to celebrate the erection of a four-story building and now comes a six-story one. The display of interest by large business concerns should convince us that Glendale's future is assured.

A CITY of 2742 inhabitants in 1910, 13,353 in 1920 and 42,000 now, is surely some gain and gives us confidence of at least 75,000 by end of 1925. This sounds big, but everything points towards that end. All we have to do is to keep up the present rate of growth and the high figure will be reached.

HAVE you happened over near the high school athletic field the last few days? If not it will be worth your while to do so. The Glendale City Fathers have generously had the field lighted and playground ball games are going on each night. The lighting of the field provides recreation to a large number who are not able to spare any time during the day and will be of lasting benefit. This playground is being supervised by the Community Service of Glendale. They will also supervise the playground activity during the summer months, as arrangements have been made whereby several of the school athletic grounds will be kept running during vacation.

DR. BROWN'S ADDRESS

Big Delegation Attends County Gathering in Los Angeles

Wednesday evening a delegation from the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club attended the annual meeting and dinner of the County Federation of Business Women's clubs in Los Angeles, the group including Dr. Laura Brown, retiring president; Mrs. Peggy Warner, vice-president; Miss Gertrude Gibbs, president-elect; Miss Edna Platt, secretary-elect; Dr. Caroline Paine-Jackman; Miss Veitch, Mrs. S. E. Grant, Mrs. Margaret Biggs, Miss Helen Tupper, Miss Ethel Ford, Miss Alice McCoy, Miss Hazard, Miss Lucille Crowell.

Covers were laid for about 100 and forty club members were represented. The chief business of the session was the election of officers and reception of reports from officers and from presidents of clubs who were present. Another important transaction was the amendment of the constitution to convert the organization from a county to a district federation for the benefit of adjacent counties which wish to join forces.

Glendale delegates had the satisfaction of hearing their representative, Dr. Laura Brown, make the finest report of the evening, and were also pleased to discover that the Glendale club is one of the largest if not the largest of the entire roster.

A very fine, practical but inspiring talk full of the right sort of advice to club leaders was made by Miss Galpin in her president's address. The present staff of officers was re-elected, viz: President, Miss Lloy Galpin; secretary, Miss Alice Quoy; treasurer, Miss Ruth Mount; auditor, Miss Sue Probst. Another officer was added to the staff in the person of Miss Josephine Stephenson as vice-president.

FINE reports were made by Miss Humphreys, chairman of legislation and resolutions; Miss Wilson, chairman of vocational department; Miss Farrow of the Adolphian club; Miss Conley of the Business and Professional Women's club of Los Angeles; Dr. Marie Wilde of the Business Women's Civil club; Mrs. Sunderland of the California Home Economics club, southern section; Dr. Laura Brown, of the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club; Dr. Caroline Paine-Jackman of Glendale, representing the Women's Osteopathic club; Miss Josephine Stephenson of the Pasadena Business and Professional Women's club; Miss Emmons of the Secretarial association of Los Angeles; Miss Masters of the Time-to-Time club of Los Angeles; Mrs. Eekles of the Women's Advertising club; Mrs. Greenwood of the Women's Faculty club of U. REALTORS PLAN TO ADVERTISE GLENDAL

To Insert Advertisement in Los Angeles Publication

In order that Glendale may be kept on the map, if only in a small way, the Glendale Realty Board voted yesterday to insert a half-page advertisement in Daily Dogs, a popular publication issued in Los Angeles and circulated among tourists, the cost not to exceed $5 per issue. The copy for this advertisement is being prepared by the publicity committee of the board, of which Peter Hanson is chairman.

At this meeting a very concise report of the finances of the board was given by T. W. Watson, chairman of the finance committee, who made suggestions as to the prospective increase in the dues of the organization, these to cover all assessments, memberships to state and national organizations, etc. It was decided to disburse with the next meeting of the board and to hold a special meeting a week from next Wednesday for the purpose of considering the amending of the charter so as to effect the increase in the dues desired.

Many commendatory expressions were heard at the meeting concerning the entertainment given by the Tujunga board to the local board at Tujunga last Monday afternoon. The Glendale organization is expected to "come back" to the realtors in the upper valley before a great while.

The matter of jinx day was taken up and after some discussion the committee appointed for the purpose of arranging the details of this event was discharged and W. L. Twining was appointed chairman of the new committee.

It was decided not to attend the Memorial Day parade in a body, as the members will doubtless march with other organizations.

TUESDAY CLUB TO PAY UP SOCIAL OBLIGATIONS

To Entertain New Members on May 29, and Young People

The Tuesday Afternoon club finds itself in the position of the woman who has been much entertained and endeavors to pay up her social debts.

Last Tuesday a group of prominent Glendale men were entertained informally at a clubhouse luncheon, where they were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Marie Campbell, and given the privilege of inspecting the new home of the organization, the group including Messrs. David Black, George Karr, V. M. Hollister, Col. John Fraser, A. W. Horn, A. R. Eastman, A. T. Cowan, D. Ripley Jackson, Dr. W. E. Edmonds, Dr. H. C. Funk, Dr. Clifford A. Cole, Owen Emery, Dr. Harry Rasmus, C. H. Dotz, R. F. Kitterman, Dr. R. V. Hogue, Arthur Dibern, W. H. Reeves, Dr. C. M. Calderwood, Dr. Montgomery and C. C. Cooper.

May 29 the club will entertain the new members enrolled during the year, the curators of sections and the chairmen of committees. On the same date in the evening, those who have assisted with affairs given by the ways and means committee, particularly the young people, will be given a party.

The organization will thus begin another year with a self-respecting sense of having made its acknowledgment of indebtedness and shown its appreciation of service rendered.

MURDER FOLLOWS LIQUOR

George Hermann Shot to Death by Companion in Scholl's Canyon

MURDERER ESCAPES

Witness to the Tragedy Summons Police Aid; Man Hunt Starts

George Hermann, 50 years old, 1803 West Twenty-second street, Los Angeles, blacksmith at the grading camp in Scholl canyon, near the rifle range, in Glendale, is numbered among the victims of the illicit liquor traffic, having been shot to death at 1 o'clock this morning in his own tent by Ted Spencer, also an employee of the camp, who the police claim, was drunk. The shot that killed Hermann entered the left side of the abdomen, passing through the stomach and out of his back. The victim died before medical aid arrived.

After firing the shot, Spencer, at the point of his revolver, it is alleged, compelled Henry Bernin and Joe Todd, both of Phoenix, Arizona, who are also employed at the camp, to enter his machine, whereupon the car, with Spencer driving, raced madly from the scene of the trouble, going in the direction of Glendale. Nothing has been heard of him since.

The trouble which resulted in the death of Hermann started when Spencer returned to camp, after passing most of the night drinking. Immediately after he returned he entered the tent where Hermann was sleeping. Upon awakening, Hermann ordered the intruder out of the tent and Spencer obeyed. Six times, it is claimed, this scene was repeated. When Spencer entered the tent for the seventh time, the police say, Hermann arose and was about to eject Spencer forcibly from the place, when the latter, cursing, drew a revolver and, when within two feet of Hermann, fired. The victim staggered backward to his bed and fell upon it, dying. Spencer left the tent and a minute later was speeding from the camp.

Raymond Bryant, 2900 Mariposa street, Los Angeles, who was occupying the tent with Hermann, witnessed the scene from beginning to end. For an hour this morning Bryant was closeted with Chief Fraser of the Glendale police department.

The machine which Spencer drove was purchased by him a short time ago from the firm of Brown & Cook, 1825 East First street, Los Angeles. As soon as the murder had been investigated by Officers Nunn, Baugh and Fleming of the Glendale force, the sheriff's office was notified, and the police departments of Pasadena, Burbank, Eagle Rock and San Fernando were notified. From the sheriff's office all of the other police departments in Southern California have been notified. The body of Hermann has been taken charge of by the L. G. Scovell Undertaking company, 1009 South Brand, Glendale, where the inquest will be held Monday. Hermann was a native of Missouri and has been in California for about 20 years.

Governor James G. Strugham of Nevada will be the principal speaker at the Memorial Day exercises that will be held at Grand View cemetery at 10:30 o'clock on the morning of May 30. The principal event of the day will be the dedication of the American Legion plot in this cemetery. Following the dedicatory exercises services will be held over the 17 bodies of American Legion boys who are already interred at that place. COMMUNITY BASE BALL SERVICE POPULAR

Newton Electric Company and Postal Employees Play Game

The Community Service Baseball game on the newly lighted high school grounds are growing in popularity. The Newton Electric company mixed with Uncle Sam's postal employees last evening in a practice game and carried off the big end of the score. It was an enthusiastic and interesting game all the way through. Many spectators, both men and women, were present and enjoyed the fun.

Tonight at 7:30 Jesse E. Smith's Ford men will play a practice game with the city employees. This makes a total of eight teams enrolled in the league. Standard Oil Company will probably come in with a team this week and others are also organizing. Another week will be given to practice games with the following Monday—Night School vs. Newton Electric. Tuesday—Methodist Church vs. Postal Employees. Wednesday—City Employees vs. Legion. Thursday—Firemen vs. Ford Agency.

REPORTS EXCESS KICK IN LIQUOR

Frank Jedlick, recently of Little Rock, Calif., bought a car in Los Angeles. Last night Frank went out for a joy ride "all by himself." When he reached the corner of Broadway and San Fernando road he met three Mexicans, he told the police, something that had a real kick to it. While Frank was enjoying the memory of the drinks and getting ready for another, the three Mexicans got in Frank's car and drove away. Jedlick appealed to the police, who are now looking for the missing car and its occupants.

VARIETY OF MERCHANTS' STOCKS TO BE VIEWED BY THOSE WHO ATTEND INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION

Inauguration of System of Buying on Monday Is Synchronized With the Arrival in the City of Many From Outlying Communities of District

From a psychological standpoint, the inauguration of Monday as shopping day, through the combined efforts of the majority of the merchants of Glendale and the Glendale Daily Press, the day could not be better timed. During the coming week, Glendale will have the opportunity of showing her advantages as a shopping center to all the surrounding communities.

The momentum of the Industrial Exposition will be at its height Monday. There will be hundreds, possibly thousands, of visitors in Glendale from the surrounding communities and from Los Angeles.

In the Industrial Exposition will be hosts of booths of Glendale merchants and manufacturers. Their goods and merchandise will be seen there and appraised. On Monday, among the stores of Glendale, will be the great first shopping day, showing the energy of the local merchants, the resources of stocks in trade, in the store-to-store exposition of price surveys in Glendale.

From this price survey visitors from all the surrounding country will have an opportunity they never had before, to get a quick level of price knowledge prevalent in Glendale; knowledge of the kind of service Glendale offers and the quality and variety of goods offered.

For in Glendale, now, it is possible as never before, to satisfy every requirement in goods. This may not have been possible a few years ago. It is true now. In the matter of prices, Glendale on the average has much to offer. In the matter of quality Glendale has a great deal to present. In the matter of service there is a great deal to show for the merchant of the city.

That the store-to-store and Glendale Daily Press shopping Monday be a success it is essential that the buying public, the folks who have real need for goods of any sort, should pay heed to the advertisement in the Saturday issue of the Glendale Daily Press. That they read those pages, that there will be pages of these advertisements, as news, stories, news stories as exciting in merchandising thought as any of the scandal stories of the metropolitan newspapers.

These merchants, or your merchants, if you will, do not know what each is advertising. Will not know until they see the Saturday issue. Neither will their employees.

A high pressure interest among the merchants and their staffs will await the delivery of the Saturday Glendale Press, and its show window, advertising display of the city's trading center. The people of Glendale, those represented by the Glendale Daily Press, are expected to appear at the stores and take part in the demonstration all these merchants have prepared and synchronized with the Industrial Exposition attendance in the city.

Neither the merchants nor the Glendale Daily Press expect that every citizen who visits the stores will buy great quantities of goods. What they do expect, and the utmost, is that you, the citizens that make up Glendale as a trading center, will visit the stores, acquaint yourself with goods, qualities and prices that are obtainable every day in the city, and, if you need, make a purchase to supply your want; pick up some of the bargain goods, if you have need for them and thus do your duty in the big show.

But whether you want to buy, need to buy, or do not want to buy, have no need, have indeed no money to buy with—you will be just as welcome, your reception will be just as cordial. For this is a merchant-to-merchant free exposition. The information you will receive will be useful any time. You will know where to go for what you may need at any time.

GOD'S WORD OR MAN'S, SUBJECT AT REVIVAL

Miss Amy Lee Stockton to Discuss Bible at Baptist Church

Tonight Miss Amy Lee Stockton, the evangelist at the First Baptist Church, is speaking on the subject, "The Bible—Is It God's Word or Man's?" Those having doubts or unbelief are especially urged to be present. The men having been given the place of prominence on Tuesday night, the women will have that place tonight, and a large choir of women's voices will furnish the chorus and special numbers.

Last night in the preliminary part of the service Miss Stockton answered questions. These had been placed in a box in the vestibule of the church and added much interest to the meeting. Miss Stockton spoke last night on "Heaven," and Miss Rita Gould sang "In the Land Where the Roses Never Fade." The evangelist said in part:

"To say that we cease to live at death is ridiculous, and means that we contradict all of the statements of science, philosophy, intuition, reason and scripture. It means that man, who has been created with infinite mental and moral, and spiritual capabilities, will never attain unto that for which he was created. It means that wrong will never be punished and that righteousness will never be vindicated. There is no punishment of sin in this world that is complete, and no reward of virtue. It means that we contradict that conviction that has been in the souls of all men in all ages and among all peoples in immortality. It is the testimony of God Himself since it was He who created the nature. It means that all of scripture is denied."

Miss Stockton then went on to describe the place that Christ has gone to prepare for those who have placed their trust in Him.

SAN MATEO, Calif., May 24. (United Press).—This is the tale of Clarice, fearless cockatoo of the Jean St. Cyr collection. Clarice, who is not only a perfect lady but boasts of it, after having worsted the local police force.

Clarice escaped one afternoon. Police Chief Tom Burke, aided in capturing her. Clarice showed her displeasure by sampling his thumb; finding the meat excellent, she took a good bite. She was kept in prison until a caretaker could get her. She started home nicely, then left the man flat. She's roaming freely now. The police chief will not hunt her again; dignity of the force forbids, besides Clarice might figure one bum thumb deserves another.

Editorials by the People

Glendale, May 23, 1923.
To the Editor
Glendale Daily Press:

There seems to be radical differences of opinion regarding the sewer problem between your editorial and Mr. J. R. Grey's letter of this date.

You state that the cost of an adequate sewer system under present plans would be no higher than through consolidation with Los Angeles, whereas Mr. Grey estimates that the initial cost will be at least $500,000 more, besides an annual expense of unknown amount for our proportional sewer maintenance.

Glendale taxpayers are vitally interested in knowing which estimate is correct. If Mr. Grey is right it is a foregone conclusion that the proposed $800,000 bonds will be overwhelmingly defeated, and that it will be a useless waste of money to incur the expense of a vote at the polls.

HUGH R. POMEROY RE-VISITS CITY AND FRIENDS

Once Secretary of Burbank Chamber of Commerce

Assemblyman Hugh R. Pomeroy, a resident of Redondo Beach and representing the 62d district, and Mrs. Pomeroy, were visitors in Glendale Wednesday, where they have quite a circle of friends. Mr. Pomeroy will be remembered as the one time secretary of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce where he came in frequent contact with Glendale chamber members. From Burbank they moved to the beach town where Mr. Pomeroy's abilities were recognized by constituents who sent him to the legislature.

While there he was instrumental in securing an amendment to the new motor vehicle act to abolish speed traps by requiring traffic officers to be out in plain sight on the highway to prevent men from speeding instead of lying in ambush to tempt them to violations of the law. He declares the passage of this amendment will lessen arrests for speeding and increase arrests for reckless driving. Said he: "Whenever a set of conditions makes necessary a set of regulations that encourage law breaking, on the part of the majority of the people, something is wrong."

Relative to the work of the legislature he said: "The biggest thing of the entire session was the governor's budget. While beaten on the floor he had the final whip hand and came out on top. I favored his budget without exception. He was elected to effect economy. I was a member of the Ways and Means Committee which devoted three weeks to study of the various items on the budget in committee and argued it for ten days on the floor."

BOYS' TENNIS MATCH POSTPONED

The tennis match between boys of Glendale High and Monrovia scheduled for Wednesday was not played but instead will be held Friday.

Next week Friday the boys' tennis team will compete with South Pasadena, and the Friday following that with Alhambra's team.

Thus far Glendaleans have not been told the details of the present plans, and of the proposition submitted by the city council of Glendale to the city of Los Angeles. Secrecy concerning matters of such great importance is quite unpopular with the voters.

The entire scheme must be submitted to them eventually. Why not now?

You would render a valuable and timely public service by printing the whole matter, thereby giving the people of Glendale time to analyze the subject, and to decide how far they shall use their influence with the officials of Los Angeles as you suggest.

Opinions expressed to me several months ago by expert civic statisticians are in line with those in Mr. Grey's letter, but I am open to conviction if the advocates of the present plans can prove that Mr. Grey is wrong.

Yours truly,
JOHN S. KNOX.

MUTUAL BENEFIT READING CIRCLE PICNIC PLANNED

Preliminary Discussion
Is Had at Regular Meeting

Preliminary plans for the annual picnic of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle were outlined at the regular meeting of that organization at the library yesterday. A committee of three, including Mrs. R. C. Horner, Mrs. W. W. Stofft and Mrs. Charles H. Bjrd, was appointed to make arrangements for the picnic, which will be held on June 20.

The meeting opened with Mrs. H. V. Henry, vice-chairman, presiding. Mrs. Eustance Moore announced the P. T. A. celebration picnic June 13 at Brookside Park, Pasadena.

The review of the day was given by Mrs. W. A. Kulp on "The Privilege of Living" (Harry Emerson Fosdick). Mrs. A. A. Barton then took the chair and read a letter from Miss Lombard of the National Bureau of Education, when sent a circular printed by the bureau on Reading Circle work, which is available to all interested.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll sent the circle a list of names of delegates from many states to the National Congress of Mothers at Louisville, who asked for information on reading circle work from Glendale Circle.

The treasurer, Mrs. McLain, reported 104 paid up members. There will be no meeting of the circle on May 30, Decoration Day. On account of the P. T. A. federation picnic coming on June 13 it was decided to postpone the regular meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle for one day, to June 14.

Mrs. H. V. Henry continued reading from the book "Play and Education" (Lee) on the chapters "Social Play," "The Dramatic Age" and "Subject of Impersonation."

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, founder of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, held two round-tables on reading circle work at the recent convention in Louisville and a great deal of interest was shown and many inquiries made.

'ALL'S FAIR IN LOVE' PROVES CLEVER FARCE

The unique spectacle of a just-wed wife busily engaged in vamping her own husband can be enjoyed if you will view the new Goldwyn picture, "All's Fair in Love," at the Glendale theater.

Natalie Marshall is a spoiled child who wins her husband in spite of the designing methods of an alluring adventuress. When she believes him faithless, she refuses to recognize the marriage pact, but finally love triumphs over suspicion, and she attempts to win him back. What happens then forms a farce that is highly hilarious. May Collins, Richard Dix, Stuart Holmes and Raymond Hatton are featured.

An Egyptian bracelet, reputed to bring both good luck and bad under certain romantic circumstances, causes a great deal of comic woo in the new farce. Its cryptic legend is that it will bring happiness when worn on the arm of a woman possessed of the man she loves, but much misery if his heart belongs to another. Presented to a blushing bride on her wedding day, and bearing an inscription from her husband to an earlier flame, it starts the ball of misunderstanding a-rolling.

JUNIOR GIRLS DEFEAT SENIORS
In the girls' inter-class baseball game at Glendale High, the juniors were matched against the seniors on Tuesday night and won out with a score of 16 to 5. They had the advantage of a fine pitcher in Charlotte Hawkins.

Tonight the girls' tennis team of the school will compete with Monrovia's girl team on the Glendale courts.

FASCINATING PARASOL
A fascinating parasol is bathed with a stunning design of Egyptian lotus blossoms.

WASHABLE GLOVES
Gauntlet gloves of washable fabric are finished with a number of small ruffles upon the gauntlets.

MRS. BABCOCK IS SURPRISED BY BIBLE CLASS

New Bride Is Honored by Wednesday Morning Students

On Wednesday morning the ladies of the Wednesday Morning Interdenominational Bible Class went in a body from class to 325 Howard street to the home of Mrs. L. W. Babcock, who is a recent bride, and tendered her a complete surprise.

A poem composed by one of the members was read as follows:

TO MRS. BABCOCK
We wouldn't give you a "chivaree"
With noisy pans, no-sir-ee!
But we have come as you now surmise
To give you a loving little surprise.
(And instead of pans we have brought The pies.)

When Mr. Babcock joined our few
We highly esteemed him, just like you,
And he kept on smiling in his Babcock way,
But never a word about his wedding day!

So here you are in your little cot!
And we've come to tell you we love you a lot.

Our luncheon we will share with you;
Your joys and sorrows, we'll share them, too!

On behalf of the class a beautiful flower bowl filled with carnations was presented to the bride by the president of the class.

Mrs. J. Rhea Baker, the teacher of the class, led in prayer and all joined in singing, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," after which Mrs. Baker responded in a touching little speech of thanks.

All enjoyed the luncheon served by the ladies and then a hand-clapping for a speech from Mr. Babcock brought the gentleman to his feet and he responded in his usual genial way.

A social time was enjoyed afterwards. Over thirty were present.

Chiropractic Avoids It!

It has been found that many illnesses are caused by undue pressure in the nerves feeding that particular part of the anatomy. Many a man and woman has been forced to lose much time and much income through apparent neglect, when health can be fully restored through scientific and effective adjustments that remove the cause of disease.

CHIROPRACTIC is indeed a boon to the working class. If there is one thing which is imperative for the working man and working woman to possess, it is HEALTH. The spine has more to do than any other factor with the maintenance of health on the one hand or the establishment of disease on the other.

Don't wait until you "are all in, down and out" before consulting me, but at the first sign of danger (slight though it may be) ask for a spinal analysis. To be healthy you must possess a normal spine.

"Sing, if you can; play, if you can; but if inherent or developed talent be not yours, be a part of an audience which will thrill with rhythm as music floats upon the air."

A thousand concerts await you. Great artists and little children have prepared for these days. Splendid bands will play. Orchestras will present their symphonies. Choruses will carol their melodies. You cannot be deaf ear to these opportunities.

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead that the message of music cannot reach him? Music typifies the soul of our city, and I call upon all of you to join in celebrating Music Week."

The foregoing, from the proclamation of Mayor Cryer to the citizens of Los Angeles and neighboring municipalities, in setting May 19 to May 26 as Music Week, reaches the heart of the ideas which are behind the setting aside of a whole week in which to further inculcate in the souls of people an appreciation of true harmony.

Eagle Rock will take her part in the celebration tomorrow night at a Community Song Rally arranged and presented by the people of Eagle Rock in the Women's Club House at 8 o'clock. The Women's Twentieth Century Club has donated the building for this entertainment.

Arthur Farwell, original founder of the Community Song Movement of America, and president of the New York Community Chorus, as well as founder and conductor of the Pasadena Music Meetings, will lead the community singing which will open the program. Provided with a song book there will be no excuses for anyone letting the rest of the crowd take one long look. Nor will any excuse be needed, because all will be glad to join in "Dixie," "Long, Long Trail," "Love You California," and those other "old ones" that all of us "Just Folks" know and love.

Local musical celebrities have been asked to volunteer their talent and many splendid numbers have been arranged. Virgil Grangberg, violinist, and Margaret Stuckwisch, pianist, have both signified their intention to appear.

Mrs. Lillian De Pierro, soprano, with the Congregational Choir of Los Angeles, will sing. The Choralist Choir will present "Glory of the Morn" from "The Messiah."

The Central School Orchestra has several selections arranged and the Central Girls' Glee Club, from the eighth grade, will sing.

Ruth Thompson is accompanist for the evening.

Several other talented singers and musicians have announced their willingness to appear on the program.

This entertainment may prove to be the nucleus of a regular community song service for Eagle Rock residents. Ever since the first "community sing" were held here, to open public meetings, the people have felt the urge to get together and sing; to forget that the night is too high; that the new car is falling down on service; and the children have bad colds; sixteen ounces make one pound, and five cents won't even pay car fare. There isn't anything that furthers the friendly spirit more than a little good community lung exercise and a movement is now on foot to solve the problem up to the people. Regular meetings have not been made just as they have been in Hollywood and other districts, with remarkable success. This entertainment will in all probability be the beginning of many such song festivals of the future. Everyone is welcome!

BEST KNOWN BRIDAL COUPLE NUMBERS ARE IN EXAMINATION

Supervisor Chooses Only Compositions Every One Should Know

The final examination of the Daily Press Music Memory Contest, given under the auspices of the music supervisor, Miss Veri Freyburger, reflected great credit on the eight weeks of intensive instruction given by Miss Freyburger, Miss Brown and Miss Schultz.

For the examination given Wednesday afternoon the following selections were played:

Minuet in G (Beethoven).
Prelude in C Sharp minor (Rachmaninoff).
Melody in F (Rubenstein).
Hungarian Dance (Brahms).
To a Wild Flower (MacDowell).
Sextette from Lucia.
Ave Maria (Bach).
Pilgrim's Chorus (Wagner).
Humoresque (Dvorak).
Hungarian Rhapsody (Liszt).
My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice (Saint-Saens).
The Storm, from William Tell (Rossini).
Elegie (Massenet).
Anitra's Dance (Grieg).
Blue Danube Waltz (Strauss).
Misereere (Verdi).
Nocturne in E Flat (Chopin).
Spring Song (Mendelssohn).
Barcarolle from Tales of Hoffman.
Largo (Handel).

The supervisor picked out for examination twenty selections which she thought every eighth grade child should know. Mrs. Grace Lovejoy, of the Progressive School of Music, judge of the contest, and Principal Thomas were present during the examination.

GIVEN WELCOME

High School Principal and Bride Given Roses
and Rice

"Just Married!" was the big placard the high school children hung over the seat of honor at assembly Wednesday morning. The pupils found out that the marriage of the high school principal, F. S. Moore, was no longer their secret so they decided to give an informal reception to the bridal couple.

Mr. Moore slipped out of town May 11. Just before going he announced to the Daily Press reporter that he was going on a spree. The State Principals' Convention was to be held at Yosemite Park May 14 to 19, so this appeared to be the "spree" which the gentleman was anticipating.

Mr. Moore did go to the convention but before going he was married to Miss Blanche Kessley, of Denver, Colorado, and then they both attended the convention. When they arrived in Burbank Sunday night they did not mention the fact to any one.

However a neighbor told another neighbor and told her not to tell. As a result the high school pupils found that it was pretty well known so they decided to give the principal and his bride a reception at assembly hour.

The bride was sent for by one of the students. When she arrived she was presented with a big basket of beautiful pink roses. As she was ushered to her seat on the stage Hubert White, director of the high school orchestra, at the piano, played Mendelssohn's wedding march. This had been preceded by the orchestra's march, "America's Finest."

Mr. Moore was called upon to speak. In witty vein, which kept the youngsters laughing and clapping, Mr. Moore talked to them for a short time.

Following his speech some daring boy arose and suggested that one or two of the other instructors, whom he named, should speak as they would be the next ones to be married. Lyon Koppes, president of the student body, presided at the meeting.

ISSUES ONLY TWO PERMITS

Burbank building permits for Wednesday only numbered two and the entire total comes to $4000.

Elmer Dale, building inspector, signed permits for M. H. Oberholzer, 5-room dwelling, $2,500; Joe Chacon, dwelling, $1,500.

DEVOTED WOMAN MISSIONARY
PASSES AWAY IN HAWAII

(By Associated Press)
HONOLULU, May 24.—The recent death of Sister Bonaventura, reduced to one the numbers of survivors of the party of seven members of the Order of Franciscan Sisters who arrived here in April, 1883, as the first persons to devote their lives to alleviating the sufferings of the inmates of the Kalaupapa leper settlement on the island of Molokai.

Sister Bonaventura, whose secular name was Agnes Carrier, was a native of Syracuse, New York, the mother home of the Order of Franciscan Sisters. She was 79 years old.

The only survivor of the party, Sister Crenca, is living now at the Bishop home, at Kalaupapa. The other five sisters—Marianne, Remata, Rosalia, Antonilla and Martha—have been dead for some time.

What Can You Do With a Guy Like That?

TO ENTERTAIN YOUNG PEOPLE

Ray Short Will Be Host
This Evening to Baptists

The young people of the Baptist church are invited to a party this evening at the home of Ray Short, 624 West Sixth street. Mrs. W. E. Hutherson, instructor of the young people's class, will be chairman of the evening's program and entertainment. All the members of the class and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

TALL WEEDS UP NORTH IS REPORT

There will be a bad accident on Tenth and Palm some day. That is the prediction made by a Burbank resident today. The forecast was based on the fact that tall weeds hide the intersection of the streets. The weeds are on private property so the city street superintendent has no authority to cut them down.

When clean-up week arrives in town these weeds may go down.

ENTERTAIN AT CARD PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. James Kirkman, 546 Verdugo avenue, entertained at bridge Tuesday evening. Three tables of players were present. Dr. and Mrs. Philip Zeis were the high scoring players of the evening.

The affair was to introduce Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, new citizens of Burbank, to a few friends of the neighborhood.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

BY E. R. WAITE,
Secretary, Shawnee, Oklahoma
Board of Commerce.

(Copyright, 1922, by E. R. Waite)
THAT a city worth living in is worth boosting.

THAT all the world loves a booster.

THAT a man who can't boost his own city is in a sorry way indeed.

THAT every citizen should be a live city-booster, every blessed one should pep up, get the boosting spirit and keep on the job.

THAT they should boost their neighbors, boost their schools, boost the newspapers, boost the city, boost the county, boost everything and everybody in the community and if the minds of some of them are so narrow that they can't do that they can get out and boost their own sweet selves, BUT KEEP BOOSTING.

THAT as a city prospers so will its citizens prosper.

THAT good business can only be brought about by everybody boosting and making better business.

THAT better business means more employment.

THAT more employment means better business.

THAT better business builds a city.

THAT RIGHT NOW IS THE TIME FOR ALL THE PEOPLE TO GET TOGETHER, PULL TOGETHER AND BOOST TOGETHER.

MANY INTERESTS IN CLASS WORK

Progressive School
Music Gives Demonstration Work

A large and attentive audience enjoyed the delightful program given at the Luther Burbank school Tuesday evening by the Progressive School of Music. The demonstration of the class work under the direction of Miss Vera Morro showed clearly and practically the interesting work the children are doing.

There were four divisions, ranging from elementary to higher intermediate classes. There were a number of piano duets, violin and piano solos given. Lester Cox gave some humorous readings.

Kiwanis Club
Honors Delegates

Ralph Church, the man who put Burbank on the map, was given a wonderful send-off as he and his wife, left to attend the International Kiwanis convention at Atlanta, Georgia.

A large delegation accompanied them to the station. After the train left, H. W. Lewis, president of the club; R. A. Powell, Frank Atwood, O. H. Skeen, attended the Los Angeles Kiwanis luncheon. The were all called upon to give the greetings from Burbank. Upon their return they spoke the highest of praise for the royal hospitality of the Los Angeles men.

DOCTRINES OF BAPTISTS IS THEME

Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Main of the Baptist church, left this morning for Huntington Beach. Two thousand Baptists are expected to attend the convention. Nationally known speakers of Glendale will speak.

Rev. Main is having special Wednesday night meetings at the Baptist church. He is giving instruction on the fundamental principles of the Bible. For his meeting last night he had for his topic, "The Second Coming of Christ."

Art Section to Have Election Friday

The Art Section of the Burbank Woman's Club will have election of officers Friday morning and it will be an important business meeting. Instruction in parchment work will be given at this time.

Any new members who want to join are asked to call Mrs. Fillbach or Mrs. Stumbo.

Mrs. H. O. Skeen and mother, Mrs. Sharp, have returned from Pasadena where they visited friends for a short time.

SCIENTISTS TO SEE ECLIPSE AT CATALINA

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 24.—When the shadow of the moon ends its diagonal dash across the Pacific September 10, next, and strikes inland near Santa Catalina island, near here, pilgrims from all parts of the world will be on hand to watch the first total eclipse of the sun visible in the United States since 1918.

While the total phase of the eclipse will be visible from Santa Catalina island several expeditions from American and European observatories will await the obscuration at Ensenada, Lower California, where the period of totality will last three minutes and thirty-five seconds, as against two minutes and forty-eight seconds at Santa Catalina.

Some of the scientists will photograph stars in the vicinity of the sun in an effort further to substantiate the Einstein theory, according to which light rays, being matter and therefore subject to the pull of gravitation, are deflected from their course by the proximity of a heavenly body.

Other observers will devote their attention to the corona, the golden emanation which extends outward from the sun past the border of the moon in every direction for hundreds of thousands of miles. With the spectroscope they will watch for any chemical elements hitherto undetected in the solar atmosphere.

Still others will study the red prominences, supposed to be fiery matter projected from the sun's deep interior with enormous velocity and extending through the corona, and which change their form so rapidly that they are never precisely alike at two consecutive observing stations during the same eclipse.

The exact moment when the apparent edge of the moon touches that of the sun will be noted by still another group of astronomers for the purpose of procuring more precise data concerning the orbit of the moon, and in the hope of solving a lunar problem of some years' standing—that is, the small but as yet unexplained acceleration of the moon's motion in its swing around the earth.

Looking northward about 12:50 o'clock on the afternoon of the eclipse, watchers on these hills will see the great dark shadow of the moon, more than a hundred miles in diameter, rushing toward them with incredible rapidity and overwhelming them with an abruptness that is terrifying.

While the total eclipse will not be visible in Los Angeles, nineteenth-twentieths of the sun's disc will be hidden, leaving only a narrow, bright crescent and plunging the city into temporary gloom.

Did you know that a common iron spider is a fine baking pan for many things? If you wish a round cake that will rise without running out and bake perfectly, try the iron spider. Bake Washington pies this way. It is also easier to handle. They never stick or burn. If you want a good "Brown Betty" there is nothing better than the spider. Covered with a skillet of the same size, it makes a fine roaster and is much better than granite for baking puddings or for scalloping.

A Neighbor Told Me This

The Pacific Electric car which left Burbank at 6:25 o'clock Wednesday evening was speeding along at a good rate after it left the city limits, when a youth of perhaps 18 or 20, lost a straw sailor hat. It flew out the window and onto the ground.

The conductor, No. 2178, and several passengers saw the hat as it flew in the air. The conductor calmly went his way picking up tickets. The dazed lad finally got to his feet and started down the aisle. The conductor saw him coming. He kept on collecting fares.

At the swift rate the car was flying down the track at least 12 blocks must have been covered before the boy reached the conductor and stuck out a quarter, too speechless to talk for some boys at 18 are not given to speech even under the best of circumstances. The man took the money and gave the motorman the signal to stop, which he did at the next block.

"Now," said the neighbor to me, "would it not have been the kind and courteous act if the conductor had stopped the car the minute he saw it flying out the window? I saw that done in Springfield, Ill."

COAL SHORTAGE IN RUHR
BENEFITS CARDIFF DEALERS

(By Associated Press)

CARDIFF, Wales, May 24.—Cardiff has profited enormously by the stoppage of coal shipments in the Ruhr Valley. Hundreds of thousands of tons of coal have been sent to French and other European ports which might otherwise have been sent from the Ruhr mines.

Some British coal merchants have proved that it is practicable to ship coal from Cardiff to Eastern Canada and undersell their coal from Pennsylvania. This is a new avenue of trade which Cardiff's thrifty coal traders are developing. The foresight behind it is emphasized by the fact that those directing the operations have bought large timber areas in Canada so as to ship props for coal mines as return cargoes. Wood pulp and grain are also being carried on the homeward journey, thus avoiding any profitless voyages in uneconomic ballast.

STOCKHOLM, May 24.—The government committee on the study of ancient Swedish folk culture and the preservation of historic materials has submitted a report to the Department of Public Worship and Education, in which it recommends government appropriations for the work, and a federation under direction of the state of all the institutions now active in this line of research.

Among the subjects now being investigated by various schools, universities, museums, and societies are local dialects, especially those which are rapidly disappearing, popular tales and superstitions, the origin and significance of Swedish place names, ancient trades and handicrafts, etc. The committee stresses the importance to coming generations of preserving

Truths in Epigram

All who joy would win must share it; happiness was born a twin.—Byron.

In my own case, who have spent my whole life in the practice of virtue, right conduct from habitual life has become natural.—Sallust.

Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.—New Testament.

WATSON SEES THE LIGHT

Senator Watson of Indiana went home loaded with speeches against President Harding's plan for a world court. Some similar speeches had been sent ahead so as to be in the hands of the printers. He was going to put a bomb under the project. Yes, indeed. When he reached home he found he was too late to do any successful moulding of public opinion. His constituents, applying open minds to the available facts, have presumed to mould their own opinions, and these he found thoroughly set. There was nothing for him to do but burn his speeches, strive frantically to gather in the number already sent to newspapers, and get in line with public sentiment. Now he is expected to uphold the court.

It would not be fair to accuse the senator of yielding to expediency. While a senator may place a high estimate on his own view, he may, if suggestions be strong enough, be led to believe himself in error. It is difficult for a senator to reform because this is the admission of the error, and yet if he is a good senator, and wise, he will admit that citizens are quite as capable as himself of arriving at the truth, that they may be right, and himself be wrong. Then with his eyes open he will take a new tack, not wholly for the purpose of saving his bacon, either.

Opposition to the court is lending strength to the President and his fellow advocates of an international tribunal; because of the character of the opposition. There is Borah, vociferously in the negative this time, as always. There is La Follette, war time advocate of the cause of Germany. There is Hearst. The necessity for the court is becoming more impressive all the time. Without it the United States, biggest and richest of nations, is left without a voice.

A LIMIT TO OIL

Since discovery that this region is rich in oil deposits, there has seemed to be a frantic effort to exhaust the supply. The amount of oil on deposit in the earth cannot be estimated, but it cannot be limitless. Nature made it through processes long ago completed, and is making no more. If the subterranean reservoirs were to be emptied, not only would a great industry be at an end, but the progress of other industries would lag until new methods could be devised. Under present conditions oil is an indispensable commodity.

England has oil fields of its own, and yet large quantities of cheap gasoline are shipped from San Pedro to English ports, as well as to all the countries of Europe. Europeans find it better to buy oil abroad, while they conserve their own. Let the present arrangement continue, and Europe will be selling oil to America, naming its own price, and more than compensating itself for the expenditure now being made for the American product.

That too many wells are being sunk there hardly could be denied. They are so close that whole groups of them tap the same deposit. This is made certain by the effect of the opening of a new well upon others in the vicinity. The matter, however, is most difficult to regulate. The man who owns or controls an oil-bearing area, naturally looks to an immediate profit. In doing this he does not think of the future, or if he does, has no care concerning it. He is here today, and tomorrow may look out for itself.

AN UNGRACIOUS GOVERNMENT

The secretary of war has been explaining by special award may not be made to the aviators who achieved a record non-stop flight from coast to coast. They are not to be advanced in rank, no monetary prize is theirs. Even the machine they used, and which the public has asked to have retired from service and preserved, must be kept for military use until worn out or smashed, when it may be disposed of as junk. The government is not sentimental. It goes to the extreme of being ungracious. It takes on the aspect of smallness and meanness touching the human equation.

It hardly was necessary for the secretary to explain that these conditions humiliated him. He would be glad to have merit recognized. Provisions making such a course possible prevail under every other form of government. To change the present rigid rule would require an act of congress. Perhaps if the attention of congress were called to the matter, it might take the acceptable course suggested. By so doing it would please the public, relieve officials of the embarrassment of withholding deserved favors and stimulate the activities of army and navy by letting the rank and file know their efforts appreciated.

The two lieutenants who flew across the country have the satisfaction of knowing that they earned promotion whether or not they get it, and that the people are aware of this even if the government is ignorant or indifferent.

The lofty endeavor of Secretary Hughes in dealing with other countries to keep political and economic considerations distinctly separated, is not deemed possible of fulfillment by various American ambassadors with whom he has been consulting. Two heads, or more, often are better than one, even though the one be crammed with a high quality of gray matter.

It would appear that the dignitaries of the Russian church were given the choice of turning bolshevist or losing their liberty and perhaps their lives. They turned. So they still have their lives, and their liberty, such as it is.

Not very long ago Lloyd George was one of the big figures in the world of affairs. In the war he accomplished much. After the war, its stresses no longer spurring him to utmost endeavor, he sank to the status of politician. Directly because of his weaknesses he was forced to relinquish the premiership. Even then, had he accepted defeat gracefully, he might have won back, if not to office, at least to a place in public esteem. He chose to become a feature of yellow journalism. This may be regarded as the end of his influence and of his career. From now on he is a yellow journalist.

His activity as a contributor gets the papers that have engaged his service into some queer complications. Here is Borah, fighting everything that has the color of co-operation between nations. The senator cites as one reason for his attitude the fact that it was a member of the League of Nations that incited Greece to war, and then deserted her. Of course, the reference is to England, but in reality it is to Lloyd George, who secretly had done these things. When the truth was revealed the world was astounded by such display of duplicity, and the end of the George career was known to be near.

Yellow journalism cares nothing for these inconsistencies. It continues to use George and Borah, regardless of the fact that Borah is pointing to George as a horrible example.

When a man is sick he expects the rest of the family to drop everything and listen to his groans.

GROWN UP CHILDREN

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

"The world's affairs are greatly complicated by people who never grow up," wrote Ida M. Tarbell recently in an article dealing with the eighteenth amendment.

She did not refer to physical dwarfs, but to mental and emotional dwarfs, people who never think except in personal terms, folks who are totally unable to control their emotions or change their conduct even in their own interests.

It is for such as these that laws are made, but unfortunately for those who suffer from them, too many such people do not offend against the letter of the law, but merely take their childish actions into their family and personal relations.

To grown up children belong women who get their way by fainting or going into hysterics. Men who stop argument by flying into rages, people who spend valuable time and energy "getting even" and patrons of the theater who carry on conversations to the despair of surrounding sufferers to demonstrate their "personal independence."

Last winter I lost a large part of one of the best plays of the season because two grown-up children in front of me insisted on discussing the fashion show going on in the midst of some of the most critical scenes of the play. A request to wait until the curtain fell before continuing the conversation was met with a defiant toss of the head and the offended declaration that they had as much right to talk as anybody in the house had to remain silent. A childish and silly revolt. The women were public nuisances simply because, in mature bodies, they retained the minds of children.

To the class of grownup children belongs also a man who recently in a northern city had a valuable horse shot because it had thrown his fiancée. He was getting even with the horse for having the impudence to hurt something in which he was interested.

The revenge was brutal and silly and the woman who marries this adult baby will in time suffer similarly, because he will always give away to childish emotions, seeing nothing but his own whims.

Probably half the divorces could be avoided if these grown up babies could be segregated and denied matrimony, but so far we have no way of preventing childish minded people from enjoying the full freedom and prerogatives of responsible humans.

But they cost society more in terms of money, tragedy and misery than many criminals. We have the machinery of the law for the control of criminals, but no machinery whatever for the control of the childish minded.

And it is they who create most of our social problems.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

WORDS UNDERSTOOD

(Find the error in this article)

There are some English expressions in which one or more words are missing. However, these words are understood and it is often important that one should be able to fill them in, in order to determine the right word.

The sentence, "He is taller than I," is a simple example of this problem. The missing word is am, the completed expression being "He is taller than I am." It is apparent, then, that one should not say "He is taller than me."

On the other hand, examine the following sentence: "I can hear you better than him." The fully expressed thought is "I can hear you better than I can hear him." But if you were to say "I can hear you better than he," the thought would be "I can hear you better than he can hear you."

When you find I, me, we, us, he, him, they, or them following than, remember there is something missing, an idea which, while not expressed in words, is obvious. If you keep this in mind you will always know when to use he, and when to use him, after than.

Yesterday's Error
Wrong: So do not associate either one (referring to more than two) of these ideas with . . .
Right: So do not associate any one (referring to more than two) of these ideas with . . .

Vocabulary
Do you know why a ridge or hollow across a road is often called a thank-you-ma'am (the last two a's as in artistic)? It is because the pitch of your vehicle, when you ride across the ridge, causes you to lurch forward, or bend forward, as if in acknowledgment of a courtesy.

Queries
To Robert Ely: You may say "He brought two handfuls of nuts to me" instead of "He brought me two handfuls of nuts" if you wish. Both forms of expression are correct. The newspaper excerpt you quoted . . . the police commissioner praised the work done by it . . . is correct in respect to the word done. Did is not the right word. You would say neither "the work did by it" nor "He has did the work."

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Faith. Hope. Charity. That is a trio of human qualities referred to by the apostle as embracing the most of human virtue.

And the greatest of them is set down as charity. It is difficult to differentiate.

For faith is perhaps the strength of the soul. Hope its joy. And charity its beauty. Any one is incomplete without the others.

For without faith what would be hope or charity? And with charity, what would be faith and hope?

And without hope what would be faith and charity? One the wall. And one the spire and tower.

Faith in life is essential. Faith in its actuality, in its purpose, in its tasks, in its associations, its loves, its friendships.

And faith in people is essential as well. In their rights, their happiness, their labors, their needs.

And faith in the work there is for us all to do. For without faith in life, and work and eager friends, we go, as Bryant said: "Like quarry slaves scourged to their dungeon." And with faith, we turn smiling and eager faces to the dawn and find beauty in life and work.

And with faith in life, we need hope. It brightens the darkness with a star. It helps us again take up the burden that has grown heavy.

It rewards the struggler through the heat and sun with the promise of coolness and shade. It is the blessed lever of trial and sorrow.

And with faith and hope there is need for charity to complete our moral and spiritual temple. Charity, that we shall be kind. Charity, that we shall be tolerant. Charity, that we shall be friendly. Charity, that we shall be forgiving.

Charity, that we shall judge not hastily or evilly or cruelly or bitterly. Charity, that we shall mantle the nakedness of wrongdoing with the soft cloak of mercy. Charity, that we shall speak kindly, judge mercifully, forgive nobly.

Faith upon which to build. Hope with which to labor. Charity with which to adorn and beautify and make habitable the temple of human living.

For we must have faith to be charitable. And we must have hope to be faithful. And we must have charity, that faith and hope be worth while.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Until the word has come that the Chinese bandits have slain their victims, and has been duly confirmed, nobody will believe these outlaw capable of such an act of madness. The situation is so strange that it is impossible to understand it from this distance.

Apparently the bandits are so strong numerically as to constitute an army, and in this army to be the potentiality of a government to succeed the one now in power; if a Chinese government may be said to be in power.

The bandits issue demands upon the government, that if acceded to, would make it accessory to the present outrage. It also would show a weakness indicating that before long the bandits and the government may exchange places, each assuming what is now the moral status of the other. It is difficult to see that bandits under any other name would be an improvement that other countries could recognize.

However, the two factions, lawful and unlawful, are getting so intermixed in the common mind that there is small tendency to differentiate as between them. A distinction may lie in the fact that one is incapable of ruling, and the other has yet to prove its incapacity. However, a band of cut-throat robbers, even if clothed with authority, could not give an impressive pledge to keep down disorder and render the alien safe.

The powers had to go into China once, and while there were not gentle. If they have to go again, China will face an outburst of wrath such as will make that following the Boxer uprising, seem to the natives as they recall it, merely a passing disturbance.

Banker Stillman can't keep out of print. Doubtless he wishes that the case were otherwise. While it is not possible to class him as among shrinking violets, it easily is supposable that publicity fails to suit his fancy.

Strangely enough every time his name bobs up it is in connection with some bit of conduct more despicable than already of record concerning him.

Chaplin and Negri have won more press notices out of their "engagement" than such compact between the pair possibly could have won. "You have to hand it to them," as the saying is. Or perhaps to a pair of publicity experts.

The growth of the engagement, from the first simper and blush of the principals, to the actual announcement, and then to the breaking of the tie, together with two hearts that made a fine bluff at beating as one, has been faithfully chronicled as though it were possible for it to be important.

Henry Ford is said to have great schemes for development of water power. It is announced as his intention to vastly expand his manufacturing interests. All this is important, and the public would be glad to have him carry out the program. It is willing for him to get richer than he is, because in doing so he would add to the general prosperity.

But the work outlined is for a private citizen. It could not be directed from the White House.

A sailor from the U. S. S. Arizona swam a mile to shore and by doing so saved the lives of three others. The four had been out in a whale boat which upset with them. They were unable to right it. This sailor saw that the only course was to swim to land, and he did it.

The chap who takes a chance like that is a hero. Probably he doesn't think so himself. It would be only fair for the officers of the ship to tell him about it.

It is strange that so many human activities progress in waves. There will be a startling find by archaeologists, and immediately all over the world people begin to dig for relics of the past. Generally they find them, too.

Well, despite the excellent Bryan, the past has been a long time, and must have left a record somewhere.

An Iowa man sold twenty-five cents worth of candy Sunday, was arrested on the complaint of the buyer, and promptly acquitted by a jury.

In such wrong as was done, if any, the buyer was the more guilty. He provoked the breaking of the law, and became a participant. Besides that, he was playing a contemptibly dirty trick, while the seller thought himself obliging a friend.

An importer of sugar asserts that he lost a million or two by trying to please the government. He loaded up with the stuff, and before he could get to port, the bottom had fallen out of the market. He has asked the government to make good his loss, but it says him nay.

Many were more lucky. They had contracts with the government, and did not carry them out, but got, in a series of lump sums, the several amounts that represented the profits they had expected.

It would be nice of these fortunate souls to whack up their gains with their unlucky brother.

A Corona man eloped with the wife of another, and killed the aggrieved husband who had presumed to protest. On the face of it, this seems to be an aggravated case of adding injury to insult.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

My old man is getting crabbed. Age hasn't sweetened his temper any more than age sweetens vinegar. His vocabulary is getting shorter and huskier, too. He likes to sit in the corner of the fireplace when he comes over to our house, smoking his pipe and listening to the conversation, if any. Usually it is just talk. Last night the Professor had the floor.

"The most alarming evidence of the moral deterioration of the age is the unchecked animalism of the young," said the Professor. My old man interrupted him.

"Bunk!" said he, taking his pipe out of his mouth and glaring heavily. "Bunk! What do you know of other ages? You're talking nonsense."

Whereupon my old man, being wound up and set to go, went on to tell the Professor a few things. He said that when he was young the boys and girls, so far as he could see, were just what they are now.

"Some of 'em fools and some of 'em bad and most of 'em all right," said my old man. Lots of the boys and girls, when he was young, got into trouble because they were ignorant, he said. In those days it was the fashion of parents and guardians to be prissy and prudish. They faked an attempt to keep knowledge of the facts of life away from their pups, said my old man, knowing all the time the only thing that could save 'em from knowledge was an early grave. And it is far more pitiful to witness the agony of an innocent little ignorant than to listen to the yowls of a smart-Aleck, boy or girl, who knowingly dared the fire.

"What if they do wear a little less clothes?" asked my savage old man. "They're the same girls underneath what there is of it." He mused a moment in silence.

"Gosh," he said. "Looking backward, it seems to me the girls dressed like freaks when I was young."

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

The first smoke preventing device was invented by a Frenchman named Delame and exhibited in 1685.

Indigo, which is obtainable from plants of several species, is probably the oldest dye known to mankind. At the present time the bulk of the world's supply of indigo is obtained chemically from aniline. The importance of natural indigo is rapidly diminishing. About the only regions where indigo farming still prevails on a commercial scale are Bengal, in India, and Salvador.

OFFICERS ELECTED COMMUNITY PLAY

BY IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

BILLS TO BE PAID

H. M. Bruce, ex-President
Glassell Improvement
Club, Heads New Leaders

All Itemized Bills Presented by 1st of June to Be Paid Before 10th

The following permanent officers have been elected by the Eagle Rock Improvement Association to supervise the work to be undertaken during the year:

H. M. Bruce, president; H. Ingram, secretary; Elmer Bergsvik, treasurer.

Five vice-presidents will be elected at a later meeting, one to be selected from each precinct, so that every section of the city will be represented in the governing force of the improvement club.

Fifty-seven memberships were paid up at the election meeting Tuesday night.

A number of issues will be taken up with the proper authorities to improve conditions here that are at present unsatisfactory to residents. A definite plan is being worked out on the sewer question, although the move for improvement will take some time. The question of immediate five-cent car fare now that Eagle Rock and Los Angeles are one and there is no longer a Los Angeles "city limits" to cause the collection of an extra fare, will be thoroughly thrashed out to a definite conclusion by a committee which will confer with the railway officials at the earliest possible moment.

The question of better car service will also be brought up on the table and great stress laid upon the number of cars provided for the full Eagle Rock run. H. M. Bruce, newly elected president, has had a lot of practical experience as president of the Glassell District Improvement Association. He has had some difficult knots to untie in the matters of transportation, street improvement, and other issues growing out of the everyday needs and difficulties of such an in-between section as the Glassell district.

The constitution and by-laws have been approved, and the first Tuesday of each month has been set aside as the regular date for the evening meetings. An endeavor will be made to secure the city hall for the meetings.

WOMEN DISCUSS ENGINEERING PROBLEMS

[By Associated Press]

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., May 24.—Women in silk stockings, charming tailor-made gowns, and fascinating hats met recently in Birmingham and discussed learnedly engineering problems of stresses and strains, buttresses, trusses, bridge building, engineering contracts and various matters of that sort.

They were delegates to the international conference of women engineers. But although engaged in work and studies that, according to masculine ideas, are seldom associated with feminine tastes and predilections, they did not look a bit like blue-stockings.

Most of them carried vanity bags and other aids to feminine

PRESBYTERIANS HEAR REPORTS ON SEMINARIES

[By Associated Press]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 24.—Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University, Columbus, today reported to the Presbyterian General Assembly as chairman of the special committee to visit theological seminaries. His report read in part as follows:

"The church of the future will require a variety of service. To meet this variety of service a variety of talent will be in demand. Recognizing the differing tastes among both men and women and recognizing also the laudable desire to reach a definite status in one's life service, there is a sound basis for belief that talented men and women would be attracted to the service of the church, provided a suitable provision is made for a satisfactory status, and an adequate provision for their maintenance in the service."

"The church in her modern situation faces an obligation of far-reaching importance in the fields of religious education and of social service. There is cumulative evidence that the responsible leadership of the church is fully conscious of this fact and of the need for wise action in formulating and carrying into effect a program which shall provide for the training of lay workers in a more adequate way than any hitherto attempted."

"There is a widespread belief that the theological seminary of today is not rendering the service the church needs and that as an institution it does not represent the spirit of the church. Certain ministers have given expression to their conviction that the Presbyterian church is falling behind in her educational work and that in the education of her ministry the seminaries have failed in a measure to adjust their resources of money, of men and of teaching methods as represented in their curricula to the demands of the present day."

"The present day student appears to have made little advance beyond the status of an earlier generation. City pastors testify that the modern student comes to his work almost entirely ignorant of the organization of a modern city church and of the many forms of Christian social service to be supervised and inspired by the pastor."

Among the recommendations made are the following:

"That the assembly approve the proposal to modify the curricula of the theological seminaries in such manner as shall better adapt them

DISMISSED

JAMES W. FOLEY

Life, when the task allotted me is done,
And when the workmen go home, one by one,
And I, among them, leave the lathe and tool,
And go forth to the twilight dusk and cool,
Put off the workman's garb and cap and take
My wage, what may it be, and sleep, nor wake
With shrilling whistle or the whirling wheel,
The roaring furnace or the clashing steel,
But merely sleep, and have not part or place
In the great workshop, nor my hands and face
Grown grimy with the grease and heat and sweat,
Where other workmen come and labor yet.

I shall not bitterly bewail my fate,
When I go forth and stand without the gate,
Through which so many days I passed and came
At close of day; but I shall miss the flame
Of furnace and the forge; the ring of steel,
The whirr of wheels; the smooth and steady feel
Of tools held in my hand; the grime and sweat;
The shirt upon my back grown hot and wet;
The beads upon my forehead; creaking chains,
And all the noise and heat and cries and stains
That go to make the plow or share or beam.
Life, long as I may sleep and what I dream,
This I shall miss the most—that thrill and throb
Once mine in what men fity call a job.

to the needs of the present day church and to that end commends to the seminaries for consideration the report herewith presented to the assembly.

"The committee recommends that the assembly proceed in a constitutional manner to provide for adding to the requirements for ordination adequate examinations in Christian education, psychology, social science and missions both home and foreign. The committee recommends that a suitable overture be prepared by this assembly and that it be submitted to the Presbyteries for action."

"The assembly presents with approval to the management of the theological seminaries the proposal to reorganize by a combination of the functions of trustees and directors in one body elected for a definite term of years."

"The assembly recommends to the board of Christian education and to the several theological seminaries that a conference on educational standards be held and that a plan be adopted for a better regulation and enforcement of

Empire Day Celebrated

LONDON, May 24 (United Press)—Britons are celebrating Empire Day today—the anniversary of the birth of Queen Victoria—and although not a national holiday in England, the celebrations are empire-wide. Flags were flown on all government and public buildings and schools were granted a half-holiday, the morning being devoted to parades and patriotic exercises. In London there was a monster parade at Hyde Park of Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Boys' Brigades, and kindred organizations.

BETTER PLUMBING IS ENDORSED BY MANY CITIES

Health authorities of many communities have commended the organized effort of the Sanitary Development League of Southern California to stamp out the evil of cheap and insanitary building arising through the use of improper and carelessly installed plumbing materials.

Dr. L. M. Powers, health commissioner of Los Angeles, declares that the campaign of the league has gone far toward eliminating some of the causes of disease epidemics and that the safeguards now being taken along the lines of sanitation are largely responsible for the decrease in the mortality rate.

It was but a few months ago that the league, which is composed of several hundred representatives of the plumbing industry, launched the movement for better sanitation in dwellings, office buildings and industrial plants. There was an immediate response on the part of the public, especially from interests and individuals engaged in building.

Sylvester L. Weaver, former president of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, in a speech before the organization, said: "I know of no movement that will result in so much good as this campaign of the plumbing industry to instill higher ideals of sanitation in the minds of the public. Southern California is building up more rapidly than any other section in the minds of the public. utmost importance that our progressive ideas be expressed in terms of safety when it comes to consideration of the health of future generations."

"The plumbing of our homes and the buildings in which we spend our working hours has never been given the serious consideration it should have. More than half of this plumbing is concealed behind walls and under floors. There is every reason why the materials thus used should be of the best and should be properly and carefully installed."

Reports to the league, which has headquarters at 326 Higgins building, Los Angeles, give concrete evidence of the increased demand for better plumbing materials, for the modern equipment and for better workmanship.

The emblem of the league, used to identify members, is being sought out by people who are building or making changes in their homes that require the services of a plumber. For the members are pledged to uphold the highest ideals of the industry and to stand behind their work and materials. The league has members throughout Southern California.

The man who thinks that he serves only himself is a bond servant of his satanic majesty.

For removing spots from wall paper and window shades, fill small cheese cloth bags with corn meal and rub the soiled surface as you would with a plain cloth. Sometimes a large grease stain on the wall, for instance, above a couch where members of the family have rested their heads, can best be removed by the use of blotting paper and a hot iron. The heat draws the grease through the blotting paper.
